Stephen T. Keiley, general manager of the B. and A., said the strike was threatened after the railroad refused to place brake-"would have nothing the city, a West Roxbury comto do" on the Mainliners.

The new cars are all aluminum, self-propelled units, each car being a small but complete train.

"These cars are manned by a conductor and an engineer," Mr. Keiley stated, "but the conductors' organization insists that we put on a brakeman despite the fact he would have nothing to do."

He said that the company was willing to abide by any decision handed down by the National Railroad Adjustment Board or other government-appointed arbitration board, but the union had refused.

Tax Reduction Seen

Economy in Washington can mean tax reductions for all of us, direct or indirect. The new Administration is expected to let the unsound excess profit tax lapse when it expires next June 30. That tax applies only to corporations, but since corporations get their funds from their customers, the tax must come, eventually, from the consumers' pockets.

Balancing the budget is more important than other tax reductions. However, an intelligent solution of our foreign relations, a just peace in Korea, and elimination of Federal waste and inefficiency certainly will make it possible to reduce taxes within a comparatively short time.

If the Federal government decides to let states and local governments take back the responsibilities that are rightly theirs under the Constitution, we'll be well on the way toward a level of Federal taxation that a healthful economy can support.

The New Year

Big crowds and big spending in night spots expected! That's the story told in the pre-holiday news releases and that is the news from the cities. Some might think that most of the country was going on a hilarious holiday binge.

But the greatest part of America will do no such thing. From thousands of churches and homes there will rise quiet prayers—solemn invocations that the new year be one of peace, of brotherhood and of understand-

With world-wide conditions such as they are today, truly 1953 will be a year in which guidance Divine might well be invoked—for the world and for our nation. It is comforting to know, therefore, that in a myriad of old time "watch parties" it will be sought in humble consciousness of our human limita-

And may New Year's Eve be but a beginning. In days to come whenever the conflicting sides in the international disputes, which are the immediate concern of us all, sit down together to try and find the solution, might there not be an opening moment of earnest silence—in the spirit of the New Year's invocation?

Ike's Election Big Political Story of 1952 . . State Election Provided Some Real Upsets . .

When the columnists and commentators re recounting and summing up the historymaking political events which occurred during the year now nearing its end, they'll almost automatically place Dwight D. Eisenhower's election near the top of the list.

Technically, they'll be correct, and that's the way the writers of history will recount it a generation from now.

Yet, there were happenings during 1952, now almost forgotten, which shaped the course of political history and could well have made the story a completely different

It was a year of momentous political occurrences, and this writer was privileged to occupy a ringside seat at many of them :

to watch them as they developed.

A remarkable aspect to the big political story of 1952 was that it was foreshadowed with amazing accuracy almost eight months in advance of the Nov. 4 election.

But the political experts, who had gone out on a limb and guessed wrong in predicting Thomas E. Dewey's election in 1948, were wary about accepting the unmistakable signs in the returns from the Presidential primaries held in New Hampshire in March and in Massachusetts in April.

For the vote of those two States clearly showed that the political pendulum had swung and that the people wanted a change after 20 years of Democratic rule in Washington. The experts, of course, recognized that. What they were uncertain about was whether the pendulum might swing back between April and November.

If this writer were to pinpoint one single event, which more than any other was to make Dwight D. Eisenhower President of the United States, it would be the action of the Republican national convention at its opening session last July 7 in refusing to seat the Taft delegates from four Southern States.

That was the day Governors Dewey of New York, Fine of Pennsylvania, McKeldin of Maryland and Driscoll of New Jersey stopped Senator Taft's drive for the G.O.P. Presidential nomination.

That was the day Dewey stood before the New York delegates and browbeat, threatened and whipped back into line nearly a score pledged to support Taft, reminding them that, win or lose, he was going to be Governor of the Empire State for two more years and that those who went contrary to his wishes would suffer the con-

When Dewey announced the New York vote, it was 95-1 against seating the Taft delegates, and the back of the Ohioan's campaign was broken.

A day earlier, Taft had more than enough dges to make him his party's candidate for President, but he was unable to hold his strength when the big bloc of his Southern supporters were thrown out of the conven-

Scenes that were weighted with drama and tense excitement stand out in the writer's mind as the two national conventions are recalled.

There was the night that Governor Dever's voice suddenly broke as he delivered the keynote address at the Dem-cratic national convention in what was to have been the greatest hour of his public career, and newsmen from Boston, who had boasted of his oratorical prowess, writhed in their seats as he hoarsely croaked through a long, wordy speech.

Memories flood back of the usually mild-mannered Mayor Hynes battling at the side of Estes Kefauver in an unsuccessful stand against the onrush of the Stevenson steamroller, of Maurice J. Tobin waging a sentimental fight he knew he couldn't win for Alben Barkley after a group of labor barons had forced the old man out of the Presiden-

Pictures come out of the past of Estes Kefauver weeping openly on the platform of the Chicago amphitheatre after Congressman Sam Rayburn, the convention chairman, refused to allow him to withdraw from the contest and release his delegates, of Robert A. Taft, a smile masking his feelings, congratulating General Eisenhower in a Chicago hotel, after seeing a Presidential nomination snatched from his grasp, of Senator Dirksen pouring it onto Governor Dever, of Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., biting his lips until they bled the day before the Republican national convention opened.

There was the weary night last September when the members of the Massa-chusetts Legislature, lashed by the of public opinion, voted out their own pensions after the most amazing special legislative session in the history of the

The year now in its waning days provided more than its share of stunning surprises on the Massachusetts political front. Anyone who predicted a year ago that Governor Dever and Senator Lodge would be defeated in the same election would have been promptly measured for a padded cell.

General Eisenhower's election was not unexpected once his nomination was achieved. His name was a household word as a result of his military fame. How much, if any, Adlai Stevenson's prospects were impaired by his own original reluctance to accept the nomination is impossible to say, but Ike probably would have won under any circumstances, and once the battling started Adlai proved an excellent campaigner and a worthy foeman.

were determined to make an all-out drive to recapture the Governor's office, and in the spring they persuaded Christian A. Herter to give up the seat he had held in Congress for 10 years and carry their banner.

The Democratic politicos were convinced Governor Dever was unbeatable. He was their champion vote-getter. He had won by landslide margins in 1948 and 1950. He had powerful machine, a united party behind him. He couldn't lose, they argued. Herter launched a dogged, uphill fight.

He was not a spectacular or flamboyant candidate. But he never stopped plugging even though he knew the odds were against him. When the campaign breaks came, they favored Herter and hampered Dever.

Many factors contributed to Dever's defeat. He lost some popularity at the Democratic convention, not only his voice broke and he was forced to limp through his keynote address, but because he assumed the role of political boss and whipped delegates into line behind Steven-

People watching their television screens felt also that Dever, while serving as temporary presiding officer, was unfair to the Southern delegations. Many persons who disagreed with the arguments of the Southerners believed strongly that they were entitled to fair play and that Dever rode rough shod over them.

The pension controversy unquestionably cost Dever some votes, for he had signed into law some of the statutes which he later advocated be scrapped, and he summoned the legislators into special session after first refusing to do so when Herter proposed such a move.

Senator Lodge, the Republican party's strongest vote-getter, lost his seat to John F. Kennedy, in an election in which Massachusetts was being carried by the Republican candidates for Governor and President.

Lodge was cut by many members of his own party. Whether it was because of Kennedy's appeal or the resentment against Lodge because of his cries of "steal" and "thief" at the Republican national convention no one could be sure. Whatever the reason, the result was the same.

Gas Tax Increase

To 5 Cents Today

The gasoline tax in this State goes to five cents a gallon today.

This is an increase of seventenths of a cent.

The increase was voted by the 1952 session of the legislature, along with the second two-hundred-million-dollar bond issue for more new h'ghways.

Both the tax and the new bond issue were made effective after the first of the year, in a compromise between the Democratic controlled House and the Republican-dominated Senate.

"Threat to Prosperity Is Spending Tomorrow's

Income for Today's Pleasures," Bankers Told

A new $1000 insurance plan, an extra paid holiday, and an increase in weekly accident and health benefits are features of the 1953 contract approved last week by the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company and firm's drivers and mechanics.

The contract is expected to signed this week by John H. Walsh, president of the Middle-sex and Boston, and by Francis M. McIntyre, president of Local 600 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America.

Union members accepted the revised contract last week by a vote of 102 to 43.

The new contract provides a $10 hike in weekly accident and health benefits. Formerly, an employee received $30 a week if he was absent from work due to sickness or injury. The new contract will allow him $40.

Dr. Joy, who lives at 10 King-ston road, Newton Highlands, is a noted minister author and in-ternational relief expert. Joining CARE's staff as a field representative in 1950, he travelled abroad extensively to observe CARE operations in many countries, including Germany, Austria, France, Italy, Greece, Yugoslavia and Israel.

He went to Korea last February, aiding the distribution of CARE food and textile packages to civilian war victims.

Born in Boston ,Dr. Joy studied for the ministry at Harvard Divinity School and Andover Theological Seminary. He holds an honorary degree of Doctor of Theology and has served pastorates in Portland Me., Cincinnati, Louis, Pittsfield, Dedham, Lowell and Boston.

For 10 years before joining CARE's staff, Dr. Joy was engaged in relief work in Europe. He was an international observer for UNRRA, executive director of the Italian Medical Nutrition Mission, executive director of the Unitarian Service Committee, and European director of the Save the Children Federation.

His humanitarian service brought him decorations from five European governments, one of them the Palm Academique, highest award of the French Ministry of Education.

Dr. Joy has written many articles on foreign relief problems for American magazines and newspapers. He is especially well-known for his work as a translator and interpreter of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, about whom he has written seven books .

ed among the 50 best books of the year when they were pub lished. Dr. Joy has also served as editor of The Wayside Pulpit, literary editor of The Christian Register and compiler of Harper's "Topical Concordance of the Bible.' 'He is a contributing editor of the Beacon Press.

MUTUAL SAVINGS BANKS than ever before

Probably the greatest reason why so many people prefer to place their savings . in Mutual Savings Banks is simply this: Because Mutual Savings Banks have no stockholders, all earnings (after taxes, expenses, and reserves) are paid as dividends to the depositors.

If this mutual sharing of profits makes sense to you, we'd welcome the privilege of safeguarding your dollars.

CURRENT COMMENT

Startling Changes Will Be Made at the State House as Gov. Herter Takes Office

The great upheaval on Beacon Hill is now about to start, and the echoes of its rumblings and explosions will carry into the hinterlands of the Commonwealth.

The next six months probably will see more changes in the State House than any comparable period in this generation, not even excluding the first half-year of James M. Curley's stormy term of office.

Some high State officials will yield to the inevitable and submit their resignations. A number will be replaced when their terms expire later this month. Others will be removed or legislated out of office.

Governor Christian A. Herter today began what one day may be known as the Great Reorganization, and there was an electric undercurrent of grim determination as he assumed office amid the traditionpomp and ceremony and the dull boom of the old cannon on the Common.

A deep-rooted bitterness existed between the outgoing and incoming Governors. No blows were struck when Messrs. Herter and Dever met in the gubernatorial chamber, as political legend insists happened when Curley succeeded Joseph B. Ely on a January day in 1935.

But the harsh words and the angry charges, the comic books and pamphlets, the biting attacks and allegations of the past campaign have not been forgotten, or forgiven, and the open wounds left by the political fighting haven't healed.

A pretense of friendliness, when Mr. Herter and Mr. Dever met a month ago at the head table of the Clover Club dinner. was little more than a momentary sham that masked the real feelings of both men

That has been made apparent on numer ous occasions, including the Herter press conference at which the new Governor lashed out at the alleged payroll padding and the persons who have been drawing salaries without ever showing up for work.

It will become increasingly evident from events in the weeks ahead, as Governor Herter overhauls and reorganizes State departments, boards and agencies.

One thing almost overlooked in the heat and confusion of the fall campaign is that Mr. Herter is quite an expert on State prob-

During the past decade Herter has been so widely acclaimed as one of the foremost congressional aathorities on international affairs that it has been virtually forgotten that he also possessed a broad background of experience in the State government.

Before Herter went to Congress he served in the Massachusetts Legislature, and he went up the steps in the House of Rep- either of the proposed plans this resentatives to become Speaker. No Governor in the last two decades, with the possible exception of Leverett Saltonstall. has been as well versed as Herter on the legislative branch of the government.

Many things have been changed at the State House during the 10 years he had been in Washington. New agencies have been created, new functions undertaken by the State. But if the incoming Governor hasn't got abreast of all the new developments, his extremely able son. Representative Chester A. Herter, Jr., certainly has.

By the end of this month Herter will begin placing men of his own choosing in the key places in the State government. State Public Works Commissioner Wil liam F. Callahan probably will bow out voluntarily, making it possible a reorganization of the important agency he heads. State Correction Commissioner Maxwell

B. Grossman will be asked to resign or face removal. He will be succeeded by Brookline Selectman Reuben L. Lurie.

and the State tax department probably will be reorganized. As long as this writer has been covering three times as many employees as it needs. Obviously, he would have made no such pronouncement if he did not intend to wield the axe on its personnel.

He declared that in another agency the payroll for persons who never show up for work is more than $100,000 a year. He would not have made that statement if he did not propose to comb out those he charges have done nothing for the pay they received.

In his campaign he blasted the MTA trustees, and while the Dever appointees running the public transit system shown no disposition to reisgn, Mr. Herter unquestionably will find a way to heave

Work Now Currently Under Way for A New, Modernized Fire Alarm System

Work is currently under way for a complete and through modernization of the fire alarm system at the Newton-Wellesley years we have been aware of the fact that our fire alarm system has been a source of concern not only to the management of the hospital but especially to the pert advice and splendid co-opera-tion of Chief John Corcoran and his experts in the Fire Prevention Bureau. We have also been working with specialists from the Gamewell Company of Newton who have assisted in re-organizing and will carry forward with the installation of our new alarm system. The project will cost in the neighborhood of

The Existing system, which will be replaced by the new system, was installed in three sections, one of which was approximately fifty years old. This sounds gongs in portions of the hospital and, in certain cases, records the box that is being rung in on a tape in the telephone operator's office. It is then necessary for the operator on duty either to ring an auxiliary alarm or to notify the fire department by telephone. If, for example, a box is pulled in one of the outlying buildings, no alarm is rung either in the nurse's home or elsewhere the hospital. The city box near the Coffee Shop only rings at fire headquarters and does not sound an alarm elsewhere. In the past it has been almost

Up For Reconsideration

Pair of Petitions, Defeated By Single Vote, On Agenda Monday

A pair of petitions for changes in Newton's zoning regulations both defeated by a single vote at last week's meeting of the Board of Aldermen, are scheduled to be reconsidered at Monday night's aldermanic meeting.

One motion for reconsideration was filed by Alderman Earle D. Wood on the petition by the Newton Automobile Dealers' Association to allow the display and sale of cars outside buildings or retired in 1935 to devote his full display rooms.

The other motion, also filed by Mr. Wood, calls for a reconsideration of the vote turning down a petition by Elinor Johnson for changing district zoning boundaries of land at 62 Jackson street, around the building. time to the practice of Christian Science healing. Newton Centre. The petition calls for changing part of the Residence D District lot to Business A, with the balance of the property remaining in the Residence D District.

Both of the petitions were originally approved by the New ton Planning Board, but only 13 aldermen were recorded in favor of the requests last week. City regulations require 14 votes—two-thirds of the Board—for approval of a zoning change.

Aldermen Woods was one of those voting against both of the petitions, so he is eligible to move consideration. Under parliations of Connecticut. mentary rules, only those voting on the majority side may move University of Connecticut.

The request for the auto dealers was recommended unanimously by the Claims and Rules Committee, while the other re quest was recommended by a 5 to 2 vote.

Revenue Means Power

The power to tax has always meant the power to control.

In 1913, when state and local governments received 67 percent of all revenue collected from taxes, they were free and able to handle the responsibilities properly theirs under the Constitution.

Of late years, when the Federal government has been taking about three-fourths of all tax revenue, Federal' grants-in-aid became necessary. That meant Federal control by a centralized government.

The Federal government has become too big for efficiency, and too costly for our economy to bear and remain prosperous. In least four pre-election speeches Gen. Eisenhower indicated that, as President, he would favor a program to "bring government back home," so that state and local ed to have been fortunate enough to have numbered her as one of their teachers. A year in her classroom was an experience eagerly sought and highly prized by children and their parents.

A TRIBUTE

Editor, Graphic: On November 3, 1952, Miss Marion Cutts, a teacher in the New ton Public Schools since September, 1921, passed away at the home of a sister in Kittery Point, Maine.

Most of her teaching was done in Newton where her only assignment was a fourth grade in the Mason School Records show that she taught two years in New Hampshire; one year in a mod-el rural school in West Gorham, Maine; and three years as a critic teacher in the Training School of Gorham Teachers College in Gorham, Maine.

Newton Centre youth were favored with her more than 31 years of skilled, patient, unselfish service. She became a revered tradition in the community and counselled countless perplexed parents as well as guiding a host of children- the weak, the strong, conformers, and those highly in

Miss Cutts brought to children a personality that cannot be forgotten in the span of a lifetime. Her sense of fair play; her desisters; her evaluation of the pionship of what she considered right: her complete forgetfulness of self, wil' inspire a vast mul titude of people and extend unto their children yet unborn.

Today she rests in Kittery Point, Maine near the Old Pepperell House - a famous land mark—which was her childhood home. Those who knew her are saddened by her passing but with hallowed remembrances of her as a friend and fellow worker Her zeal in the profession that was her life should rally each teacher to humbly accept the challenge to serve children with all the devotion Truly she merits the tribute of one who has fought the good fight, finished the course and kept the faith God bless her memory. R. E. D.

500 Per Cent Increase in Parking Tags

A 500 per cent increase in parking violations in Newton dur-ing the last two months of 1951 was blamed on the introduction of parking meters, according to a report by Walter F. Slattery, clerk of Newton District Court.

tagging activity, tags for parking violations turned in by the Police Department in 1952 Sylvester, 2 Cross street, Wa was nearly three times the total, Mr. Slattony stated. As a result of the last 2 months in the city on November 3, police turned in 4480 tags for an aver age of 2240 a month. The monthaverage for the first 10 months of the year was only 460.

CD Auxiliary Firemen Aid in Storm Work

Last Saturday night, following the heavy fall of snow which brought about the breaking of many trees due to the ice condiions, which in turn fell on wires thus creating a menace in the city and gave the Police and Fire Departments the additional responsibility of covering these situations until the utility com panies could take over, the Civil Defense Auxiliary Firemen were called into action.

Within a half-hour, thirty men were on duty asisting in every way posible so that the regular firemen would be available for fire calls. Much credit for the prompt and efficient action of the Auxiliary goes to Chief Milton P. Young and Assistant Chiefs, Philip Gilfix and Allyn C. Woodward.

Herter's Ability to Win Elections Proves His Knowledge of the Art of Politics . . . GOP "Names" Democratic Ticket for 1954

There is a disposition on the part of some observers to underestimate Governor Christian A. Herter as a politician and to view him as a distinguished authority on international problems who has remained apart from the hurly-burly of political wars.

Some experts already are suggesting that Herter is causing the people to expect too much from his administration and that he may have covered too much ground and set too many objectives for himself in his inaugural message.

The public, they caution, is inclined to look for miracles from a new regime and to feel let-down, if they aren't forthcoming.

Herter's ability as a politician can only be judged by his public record, but his record as a Congressman over a period of 10 years would indicate that he knows something about the art of politics and how to get

He has yet to lose his first political battle as a candidate for public office, and he has bested some gentlemen who were considered very deft and skilled politicians.

Herter won election to Congress by so narrow a margin on his first run in 1942 that it appeared he might well be unseated if even a moderate Democratic tide were flowing against him in subsequent cam-

But by the time he stood for reelection two years later he had solidified himself in his district, and he gradually built up his strength to the point where he was considered unbeatable.

Herter invariably ran far ahead of the rest of the Republican ticket in his district after his rather shaky start in 1942.

He won comfortably in the Democratic sweeps of 1948 and 1950 when ex-Governor Dever and other Democratic candidates for top offices were carrying his congressional

As a Congressman, Mr. Herter attracted considerable Democratic and independent support. Whether he can do the same thing as Governor remains to be seen.

His strength partly stemmed from the fact that he remained close to his district and its people, even though his congressional work was largely in the field of international

It will not be as easy to do that in an entire State as it was in a congressional district, but on the basis of Herter's record to date the experts might do well to with-hold judgment on his political sagacity. He had to have a little to win five elections to Congress and defeat Paul A. Dever for the Governorship.

Mr. Herter unquestionably set an extremely ambitious course for himself in his inaugural address, but he didn't promise the miracles that certain of his critics have attempted to attribute to him.

When Walter J. Waldron, chairman of the MTA trustees, publicly dared Herter to remove him at a public hearing, he challenged the Governor to make good on his campaign promise and run the MTA without an operating deficit.

It's an old, moth- eaten trick to try to put words into the mouth of an opponent and then deny them. Herter, of course, at no time promised to run the MTA without a deficit. It is to be hoped that Mr. Waldron is more accurate in his statements about the road he is supervising than he is in quoting the Governor.

Governor Herter may have difficulty carrying out all his plans and programs Public officials like State Tax Commis-sioner Henry F. Long have made friends in the State Legislature, and it isn't going to be easy to legislate them out of offic and reorganize their departments, particularly when the Republicans have only a thin majority in the House of Representa-

Whether he can achieve certain of th goals he has mapped for himself will not de pend so much on the Governor himself as a the measure of party discipline he and Re publican leaders are able to maintain in th two branches of the Legislature.

Herter made it plain this week that intends to maintain close control over the Legislature, if it's possible to do it.

At a conference with legislative leader he disclosed that he wants to talk personal with Republican committee members before they report on various portions of his in augural message.

A Governor invariably encounters som balky members of his own party who de cline to go along with their own party, ar Herter undoubtedly will have trouble keeping some Republicans in line. That probabl will be his biggest problem. The next fermonths should be highly interesting ones: the State House.

Republican crystal ball gazers alread are predicting the makeup of the Democrat State for the 1954 election.

Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes lear to his astonishment at Governor Herter's augural that the G.O.P. forecasters are loting him a secondary place on the Decratic ticket, despite his own insistence he has no present intention of running any office.

The news came to him in an unusual ma ner from no less a Republican authority of the subject than Lieutenant Governor Sun ner G. Whittier. A conversation between Hynes and Whit tier at the Governor's office, following th inaugural ceremonies, according to bystance ers, went something like this:

Whittier (jovially): "Hello, Mr. Mayo

I understand you and I are going to be of ponents in 1954."

Hynes: After glancing around to mal certain that the remarks were not intende for someone else and that Whittier mean him: "That's news to me, Sumner. What ar I running for?"

Whittier: "For Lieutenant Governor."
Hynes: "Well, it's nice to keep abreas of these things. Who else is going to be of the ticket with me?"

Whittier: "Paul Dever is going to comback and run for Governor, and Maurice To bin will be the candidate for Senator."
Hynes: "The Democrats don't need worry about picking their ticket for the next State campaign. The Republicans a ready have done it for them." Whittier: "That would make it Salton stall versus Tobin, Herter versus Dever, and Whittier versus Hynes."

Hynes: "It's very educational coming here to the State House and learning wh

I'm going to run for."

Whittier: "We're very progressi people." Hynes: "I guess I'm a conservative r self, but right now I've got about all you had better drop me off the Democraticket you're picking. I'm afraid you'll have to choose somebody else as your opponent.

Trio of Celebrations Mark 95th Birthday of Industrialist

A trio of celebrations in New father, Rudolphus F. Richards, York, Newton and Boston last lived to the age of 93. week marked the 95th birthday of a spry, keen-witted Newtonville industrialist who, despite his years, still commutes to New York City once a week as part of his business routine.

James L. Richards of 47 Kirk stall road was honored first at a business luncheon in the Union League Club in New York by the American Sugar Fefining Com-pany on Wednesday.

Last Thursday Mr. Richards marked his actual birth date with his family at their home. The immediate family consisted of a son, a daughter, nine grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

The third birthday celebration came Friday at a dinner party given by his "business family" at the Hotel Statler in Boston Sponsoring this affair was the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance Company, one of his many directorates.

Mr. Richards "retired" at the busy since that time with directorship in 33 industries and philanthropies. He stated, however, that he never has allowed the extra work"to interfere with regular vacations

IMPROVEMENT HIGHLIGHTS

DYNAMIC NEW 210 H.P. ENGINE VASTLY IMPROVED HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE ADVANCED POWER STEERING* BREATH-TAKING NEW INTERIORS NEW CADILLAC AIR CONDITIONER* MORE BEAUTIFUL EXTERIOR STYLING EVEN GREATER OPERATING ECONOMY

A great new inspiration for the automotive world is now on display in our showroom. It's the 1953 Cadillac-the latest triumph of Cadillac's engineering and styling genius. (I Its beauty alone would place this new motoring creation among Cadillac's all-time "greats"-for its innumerable exterior changes have made it simply breath-taking to behold. (I Its interiors, too, are dramatically new-offering the most beautiful fabrics and appointments ever available in a motor car. (I And for those who desire the ultimate in comfort, a wonderful new Cadillac Air Conditioner* is now available. (I But the heart of this new Cadillac's greatness lies in its performance-so extraordinary that it transcends any previous concept of how a motor car should act and handle. (This magnificent performance comes from many sources. (1 It comes from Cadillac's improved Hydra-Matic Drive. (It comes from Cadillac's advanced Power Steering* -so marvelous that turning and parking and steering become almost a response to your wish. (] And it comes—in even greater measure—from Cadillac's great new 210 h.p. engine . . . the dramatic climax of almost 40 years of unduplicated experience in the design and construction of V-8 engines. (I We sincerely urge you to see and drive this great motor car. (I It is offered in three new series-the beautiful "Sixty-Two," the luxurious "Sixty Special" and the distinguished "Seventy-Five." There is also Cadillac's new sports convertible, the Eldorado-the most glamorous and exciting creation in the whole of Cadillac history. (I Why not come in today?

You must report your wife's income if you file a joint return. In 1952, I sold my residence for a profit. How should I re-port the sale on my Federal tax return?

It depends on whether or not you replaced the old residence with another residence. The replacement must be made one year before or after the sale of the old residence.

Example: A residence purchased in 1938 for $8,000 is sold in 1952 for $14,000. If the replacement cost is $12,500, the amount taxable as a gain is the unexpended proceeds, $1,500. can and should treat. Four drugs are recommended for the medical management of epilepsy - phenobarbital, mesantoin, dilantin and tridione. Some of the newer drugs have not been completely evaluated, it is Dr. Roseman's opinion. Phenobarbital and mesantoin, separately or in combination, often act as excellent complementary medicines in the management of both major epilepsy and psychomo-tor seizures when given alone or with dilantin. Tridione is used in minor seizures, limited almost childhood and adolescence, and for psychomotor seizures. Dilantin usually is ineffective in minor seizures.

The key to management of the epileptic is recognition of the type of seizure from which he is suffering. The electroencephalograph is of inestimable aid in differentiation of the unusual type of seizure. The patient should be instructed to keep a record of the number and types of seizures in order to evaluate the effect of a particular type or dose of medicine.

In order to evaluate adequately any particular drug, the mini-mum period of observation mum Turkey to increase production and utilization of coal and lignite should be at least a month or probably much longer. McCalls Article Describes Tasty One-Dish Dinners

One-dish dinners that are good enough and big enough even for company are often the ideal solution to any housewife's food problems. Food Editor Helen McCully has some excellent recipes to suggest in the January issue of McCall's. They are even good enough to win over meat-and-potato fans: BEEF-PORK GOULASH

- 1 lb. beef
- 1 lb. pork 2 tablespoons butter or
- margarine 1 teaspoon paprika
- teaspoon salt 3½ cups or 1 1 lb.·13 oz. can sauerkraut
- 34 teaspoon dill seeds
- juniper berries 8 peppercorns 1½ tablespoons caraway seeds

½ pt. sour cream Chop up the onion nice and fine, then cut your meat into inch cubes. Next melt the butter

"An institution such as the public library must constantly improve, modernize, advance, because under changing conditions standing still results in going backward. Some forward progress was made in 1952. In 1953, more revision of the basic book collection is planned, the music record collection will be further improved, and considerable attention given to book selection and getting the most service from the stream of new books con-stantly being added to our book reservoir. We must expect difficult problems in supplying book demands and in maintaining the library staff. The continuing cooperation of Library Trustees, City Officials, Library Staff and of our Library Patrons is our hope for progress in the year we are now facing.

Fire Alarm Is Nerve Center Of Any Fire Department

The Fire Alarm is the nerve center of the Fire Department. Here the calls come in for all types of services and it is up to them to dispatch the apparatus and men from the various stations to nandle the emergency. Our Fire Alarm System is composed of 437 Street Fire Alarm Boxes which are located on a number of circuits covering the entire city.

The system is a "Class A" Gamewell closed circuit system which offers excellent service and proper supervision.

There are two operators on duty at Fire Alarm at all times. They answer all of the telephone calls, check box alarms coming in and dispatch them to the various stations. The total calls for services in a year run about 1700. Of this number about 1200 are telephone calls, 10 are verbal and he remainder are box alarms. Everyone should know the three methods of notifying the Fire Department. The telephone is the most widely used means because of its accessibility. When using this means in Newton either dial BI-4-0030 or Operator. If you dial Operator, when she answers, say, "Emergency Fire." After connection has been established with Fire Alarm Headquarters and they answer, say, "I want to report a fire." Give them the street and number and the section of the city and the type of fire that you are reporting. Give them all of the information that they ask for and do not hang up till they have it. Speak clear and not too fast so that you will not have to repeat. The reason for telling the type of fire is so that they will dispatch the right number and type of apparatus to handle the patients need and receive direct call effectively.

Newton has two types of Fire Alarm Boxes in service at the present time. The older box is the "Break Glass" type. To send an alarm in from this type the glass in the small housing which has the door handle must be broken and the handle turned either way to open the outside door. Inside is a lever which must be pulled down and released in order to start the signaling mechanism to start operating. Turning the handle and opening the door does not send in the alarm.

The newer type is the "Fast Action" box. In order to send in an alarm from this type, down the small door on the front lever down and release it.

In either case when you send sure to stay there and direct the firemen to the fire when they ar-

Be sure to learn the location of your nearest Fire Alarm Box to your home and place of business so that you can send in alarm with the least possible loss

The third method is to go to the nearest Fir Station and tell them direct. Always notify the Fire Department of a fire as fast as possible.

Everyone should do all they can to prevent false Fire Alarms from being sounded. Many civilians and firemen are seriously hurt and killed each year while responding to false alarms. It has generally been agreed upon that any person over the age 8 years and of normal intelligence known better than to pull a

More Help Is Needed for Polio Drive

As the Marcn of Dimes drive in Newton goes into its third full week today, Thomas W. Leydon, local campaign director, called upon all residents of this area to step up the pace in the fight against polio.

"We have gotten off to a good start," Mr. Leydon said. "But we must now shift into high. We have just some through the worst recorded polio epidemic of all time. And, ironically, that epi-demic occurred almost simultaneously with reports of genuine scientific progress against the disease.

Mr. Leydon compared the situation to a tig-of-war-polio's threatening power pited against the power of the dimes and dollars contribute! voluntarily by the American people.

"For the past five years," Mr. Leydon pointed out, "the nation has undergone terri-fic onslaughts of polio. In 1952 alone there were more than 55,000 reported cases compared with 42,-033 in 1949, the previous record have the costs. At the same time, the purchasing power of the dol-, lar has nosedived."

The Newton campaign director cited the vast service made possible by the National Founda-tion for Infantile Paralysis through the March of Dimes. He said that four out of five polio aid, and that were it not for the financial support of the March of Dimes, we might still be in the "dark ages" so far as scientific progress against the disease was concerned.

Mr. Leydor concluded, "We're going along well, but it is vital for us to accelerate our speed. I am confident that the people of Newton, knewing the need, will respond as never before."

One African question at the moment is the proposed federaion composed of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasa-land, currently being discussed in Londor Mr. Powers said the natives do not wish this because it will mean many of them will lose their hard won privileges. British and American commercial interests are forcing- the issue, he stated.

Mr. Powers concluded by pointing out that it was to America's interest that American capital be used abroad with concern for native population everywhere.

People Look to Ike for Solution in Korea . . . Anyone Have a Solution for MTA Problem?

Now that the inaugural ceremonies are a colorful chapter in history and Dwight D. Eisenhower is the 34th President of the United States, the big question in the minds of many people is what he is going to do about ending the Korean stalemate.

While he made no definite or specific promises about Korea, Ike by implication led the people to believe that, if elected, he would bring an end to the hill-swapping and the bloody ebb and flow of battle that goes on week after week and month after month.

A great many people voted for him because of the hope he held out that he could do something about Korea.

President Eisenhower didn't go as far as did some Republican orators who proclaimed that Truman "got us into Korea, and now he can't get us out of it."

But underlying his references to Korea in his campaign speeches and his assertions that he wanted to work for peace was the suggestion that he could do something in Korea than wasn't already being done there.

The people looked at him, not as a political figure seeking high public office, but as a military hero who had commanded the great invasion of Europe, and they felt that maybe this man could find a solution to a bloody conflict that looked as if it might go on for years.

In every speech Vice President Nixon made in Massachusetts, he pointed out a small boy in his audience, a youth about 10 or 11 years old, and asked if youngsters like that were to grow up to fight in unending wars or were to live in a world of peace.

It was an effective appeal, and the mothers and fathers who listened went away with the conviction that of all the things a President might do the greatest would be to achieve a peace so that their small sons one day would not have to go off to fight in some place like Korea.

By far the most important theme in the entire Republican campaign was the hope it held out for peace and a termination of hostilities in Korea.

George S. R. McLean, 78,

Israel H. Rotman

Because Ike was a tremendous military figure, there was, and probably still is, a public disposition to expect miracles from him, to believe that he could do things which a Harry Truman or an Adlai Stevenson couldn't do.

The same military men, of course, will be directing the fighting in Korea under Eisenhower as under Truman. Exactly what President Eisenhower can do beyond ordering some plan of attack designed to drive the reds out of Korea has never been evident to this long-distance observer, and any strategy of that nature is certain to involve a heavy toll of lives.

There is no question, however, but that the American people are now looking to him hopefully and prayerfully for a solution to the Korean war. What he does to achieve it will certainly be by far the most important phase of his administration.

Former Governor Dever never was able to persuade legislators from outside the area covered by the MTA to make any real concessions toward relieving the financial for New England foods over the predicament of that troubled transit system. There is no reason to believe that Governor Herter could be any more successful -if he tried.

General Manager Dana's proposals for providing some assistance for the road, where losses this year probably will soar well over the $10,000,000 mark unless drastic steps are taken to curb them, were destined to rejection even before he made

Members of the Legislature from other sections of the State probably would not even agree to as simple a proposition as ex-empting the MTA from the payment of the gasoline tax, though that would be a rea-

To the lawmakers that would be depriving constituents on Cape Cod, in the Berkshires and the Blackstone Valley of some revenue that might be used on their

The suggestion for imposing a head tax on automobile owners to write off part of the MTA losses is not even likely to receive serious consideration. Any attempt to force the residents of the so-called fringe communities just outside the MTA district to assume a portion of the road's losses is certain to be rebuffed.

The people who use the MTA figure they are paying their share when they drop a 15-cent token into a coin box, and those who don't travel on the road simply shrug off the MTA as no problem of theirs and one they have no intention of assum-

The simple fact of the matter is that any suggestion which is advanced for meeting the staggering MTA losses will face a storm of opposition. There isn't any painless way of getting the money to pay the MTA bills, and, as a matter of fact, the present method of obtaining it isn't exactly painless for the property owners in Boston, Newton and the other 12 cities and towns who must pay it in their

The most interesting shouts of indignation came from the MTA trustees who last year ran a transit system which lost about $9,000,000. What are they doing about the situation, if anything, beyond patting them-selves enthusiastically on the back?

General Manager Dana at least offered a suggestion. His plan may not have been in outside work, who get heart a particularly good one. But he did advance disease are not assumed to have an idea. What ideas do the MTA trustees have on the subject? It's about time they came up with something.

What Shall We Eat A Good Breakfast

Recently thousands of dollars and thousands of hours have been spent to find just what food, and how much of it, makes a good breakfast. Nutricion experts tell us that breafast should contain one-fourth to one-third of the day's calories.

The latest research also found. beyond a shadow of doubt, that f you eat plenty of protein foods for breakfast you'll work better, be "sharper" in your thinking and actions, and be calmer and steadier while you work during those last morning hours.

Milk and eggs are the most popular protein foods for breakfast, but there are many luscious breakfast dishes made with meat, fish or cheese. Breakfasts of

The real help that comes from protein for breakfast has been experienced by a number of people in the Boston area who have added on glass of milk to their breakfast. SWISS EGGS

1 teaspoon butter 1/2 cup light cream or rich milk 2 tablespoons cracker or bread crumbs

Salt and pepper Dash of cayenne or paprika Buttered toast

Melt fat in pan. Add cream and heat to boiling. Slip in eggs, one at a time; cook gently. When whites are almost firm, sprinkle crumbs over top. Cover and continue cooking to desired done ness. Transfer eggs to toast. Pour the "pan cream" over all. Season with salt, pepper and a dash of ceyenne or paprika. Makes servings.

India To Be Topic Of Miss' Avery's Lecture, Jan. 28

Miss Eunice Harriet Avery returns to Wellesley for her first lecture of the New Year and, quite appropriately, she invites us to look beyond our own shores to "The Power of India." At the Community Playhouse at 10:30 a.m., January 28, she will discuss some of the critical problems that India is tackling today as she starts her second five years of independence.

India has the world's longest frontier with communism and her millions of people of all religious groups are seething with ideas. It is well for us to check the scope of our own information and ask these questions: What forces and people are guiding the fu-ture of India? For what purpose is China building the biggest fort in Central Asia in Tibet? Are the strongest ties of Pakistan with the British Commonwealth, Asia, or Isiam? Will the Arab-Asian bloc in the United Nations follow India? Why is the influence of India so strong in Africa and what does it signify? Why did Vishinsky turn down India's proposed truce terms for the Korean War?

The public is indeed fortunate that Miss Avery with her wide experience, first hand knowledge, and wisdom gathered through many years of world traveling, study, and analytical observation can bring us a little of her insight into the situation prevailing in India. Women from all neighboring communities are inspent as a new year gets underway? Tickets are available at the door and half-course tickets may to Ensign Edward Ross Carpenalso be purchased at this time. ter, U.S.N., son of Mrs. Lucien B. All lectures are open to the pub-lic and this week is "Guest Day" The betrothal of Miss Dorothy so bring a guest.

Although there are no vacancies at present, a police entrance examination for the Newton Police Department may be taken under State Civil Service Commission supervision on March 14.

Not only do no vacancies exist in Newton, but there is already an eligibility list, established last November, with about 20 names. The starting salary for the post is $3350 a year.

The last date for filing applications for the examination is Tuesday, February 24. Application blanks may be obtained by writing or calling in person at the Civil Service Commission, State House, Boston.

Applicants must not be under 21 or more than 35 years old at the time of filing the application. However, any veteran who will be 21 within six months of examination date will be eligible.

Veterans who had not reached the maximum age limit at the time of entering military service will not be disqualified because of the age limit providing applications for the post are made within five years after the date of honorable discharge.

The practical questions in the examination will be based largely upon information contained in the current edition of the manual known as the "Blue Book."

Freudenberger To Lead Discussion

During the absence of Richard Dickinson, director of the Auburndale Inter-Church Campus Group, Dean Freudenberger of Boston University will serve as leader of the group.

The Campus Group, which is made up of Protestant Students of Lasell Junior College and local college students is sponsored by the Auburndale Con-gregational Church, Centenary Methodist Church and the Westminster Group.

At their meeting this Sunday evening there will be a continuation of last week's discussion of the problem "What should we expect from marriage?" The group meets in the parish hall of the Auburndale Methodist Church at 6:15 every Sunday eve-when the Scouts are completely on their own with respect to planning of menus, preparation of meals and generally setting up a good campsite. The adult Scouters who are normally their teachers sat on the sidelines in the role of judges, for Scouts are weather conditions.

The competing Patrols were judged on the general excellence of their camping ability and praparedness. Upon entering the Reservation at the start of the weekend, the groups were judged on their trail equipment clothing and organization. Later in the day, they were rated on personal and camping equipment, food planning and its cost, and cooking. The follow-ing morning they were again judged on their general camping ability, including sanitation and cleanliness.

The winning Patrols will be announced as soon as the results are tabulated, and will receive followed the presentation of Movies will be shown and retheir awards at the January Court of Honor.

"Potent Classifieds"

"Classified advertising is paying off one of the richest dividends in its history:

"Harlow Curtice, who answered a want ad 38 years ago and got the job as a bookkeeper, was paid $526,100 last year as executive vice president of General Motors.

"Now Mr. Curtice is taking an even bigger job at more pay. He is becoming president of the corporation on the departure of Charles E. Wilson, President Eisenhower's Secretary of Defense.

"Why should anyone hesitate to use the classified columns when a concern using that medium landed such an employee as Harlow Curtice? Or why should one who wishes to better his position fail to read the want ad column, when a former bookkeeper like Harlow Curtice has traveled so

Herter's Aministration Is Off To a Much Better Start Than Ike's

Governor Herter's aministration on Beacon Hill is off to a much better start than is President Eisenhower's regime at the White House. The contrast can be attributed largely to the difference in the political experience of the two men.

The controversy over the nomination of Charles E. Wilson as Secretary of Defense not only struck a sour note that resounded loudly across the country, but it created the public impression that Ike is appointing nothing but millionaires.

There are highly important implications to the Wilson episode which resulted from the political ineptness and amateurishness of the so-called "team" Eisenhower has assembled around him.

It seems strange that Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., didn't counsel President Eisenhower on the snag that might be encountered over Wilson's confirmation and that Attorney General Brownell didn't consult more closely with Senate leaders on the questions likely to arise in the interrogation of the President's nominees.

.. What the entire Wilson controversy did was plant a seed which Democratic politicians undoubtedly will water and strive to cultivate into a public conviction that the G.O.P. is the party of wealth and big bu-

Republican politicians in Congress and the U. S. Senate realize that cry might be raised when they stand for reelection, and the party professionals are not at all happy about the blunder.

Rumblings for some time have indicated that a clash between the Eisenhower and Taft wings and their conflicting philosophies is inevitable before this national administration is very old, and there is no question but that Ike's relationship with Capitol Hill already has been harmed.

The Wilson affair certainly never would have occurred if 'Ve had consulted the experienced, hard-bitten Senator Taft and followed his advice, and the episode undoubtedly has served to strengthen Taft's

That Wilson handled himself poorly is beside the point. He's a big businessman, not a politician, and he simply blundered the political waters far over his head.

If President Eisenhower and the men around him do not propose to seek, accept and follow the advice of the professional politicians in their party, at least up to a point, they are going to find themelves in almost constant trouble—trouble that may impair much of the Eisenhower program.

The difficulty undoubtedly stems from the fact that not only is Ike himself an amateur in politics, but so also are most of his circle of advisers and cabinet members.

The deep-rooted bitterness between men like Sherman Adams, the assistant President, and the Taft wing also may make it impossible for them to work harmoniously

Taft backers never have forgiven Adams for his slashing attacks upon the Ohio Senataor, and while the former New Hampshire Governor may be very able, he not only is a complete novice in Washington but also is not noted for his tact and diplomacy.

The Wilson controversy has tended to distract attention from the fact that Governor Herter's regime made an excellent start during the first three weeks of its existence.

Herter's feat in halting the upward trend lations with others, use leisure of the State budget and in accomplishing a time wisely, develop such traits Herter's feat in halting the upward trend reduction in it was a remarkable achievement deserving of much more attention than it received.

It may well be that the Governor partly, did this by anticipating vacancies that would occur and be left unfilled during the coming financial year, but the fact that he was able to prevent another rise in the budget was in itself noteworthy.

Herter's reappointment of State Comptroller Fred C. Moncewicz also served notice that he does not intend to wield the axe upon Democratic politicians who have served competently and creditably in the State govern-

At a time when there must be a long list of Republicans for every job Herter has to fill, it took a measure of courage for the Governor to reward the service of Monce- all Tri-Hi-Y program. wicz by retaining him.

In sitting down with Boston's Mayor Smith Named Hynes, who supported ex-Governor Dever in last fall's campaign, and working with him on mutual problems affecting the State and its capital city, Herter also indicated his intention of steering away from political partisanship in running the affairs of the State government.

Herter, of course, is confronted with tremendous problems and official headaches. Sometimes he must look back on his decision to give up his place in Congress and seek the Governorship and wonder that he ever consented to make the shift.

Unlike most of the Eisenhower team, however, Herter has a background of long experience in both the State government and a knack for remaining close to the people he is serving. So far he has demonstrated himself equal to the task facing him.

Miss Eleanor E. Barry, a mem ber of the teaching staff a the Boston Museum School and for many years on the faculty at the Eliot O'Hara School of Painting, was guest speaker at the recent regular meeting of the Newton Art Association at the Newton-ville Public Library.

Miss Barry's subject was "Design As Applied to Painting." Her talk was illustrated with projected colored slides as well examples of work produced as examples of work produced by her students. She emphasized the importance of a thoughtful adherence to fundamentals that concern such matters as coherence, rhythm, color balance and design as being es-sential to interesting and orderly painting.

Vice-president Helen Cleaves, in charge of the meeting, an-nounced that the guest for the meeting on February 5 will be Richard B. K. McLanathan, curator of paintings at the Boston Art Museum. In his capacity of guest critic, Mr. McLanathan will comment on recent paintings by club members.

The club's Third Annual Exhibition of paintings at the R. H. Stearns Company at Chestnut Hill will begin on Friday, Febru-February 13, and will continue through February 28. Fifty paintings have been selected by a jury made up of Marion Sloane, Rosamund Coolidge and Glen McNutt of the Boston Guild of Artists.

News of the Day

"Histor" in the Making" was the theme Tuesday afternoon at F. A. Day Junior High when all the stude ts an teachers gathered in the auditorium to view the inauguration. A television set which threw a large picture on the movie screen was hired by the P.T.A. for the occasion and as a result we were all able to witness the historical inauguration of President Dwight Eisenhower and hear and see him as he de livered his speech to the nation.

Dr. Volta Haii, well known Boston psychiatrist who is at present on the staff of the Massachuetts General Hospital, was the guest speaker at the Day winter P.T.A. meeting on January 22. He spoke primarily on the adolescent phase of child de-velopment and proved to be a very dynamic and extremely en joyable speaker. Following the talk, parents and teachers were served coffee and cake and enjoyed an informal social hour together.

On Wednesday January 21st, the students of F. A. Day were fortunate to have as their guest for an assembly, Clarence Ellis Harbison, dog psychologist. Mr. Harbison, author of the book, Our Dogs, has been working with dogs for the last 33 years and his knowledge of how to train and care for animals is extensive. He told the students about the history of dogs and gave tips to dog owners on how best to train their pets. The meeting of Troop 140 was conducted by the viceroy, Judy Moss. The Brownies lit candles in a ceremony performed every week.

After singing the Brownie "Smile Sing" and reciting the promise, they played a game suggested by Rosalie Lane. They formed the tunnel and sang "Goodnight, Brownies."

Murphy, manager of the Rox bury social security office, announced today.

These are people who made a social security report of their self-employment earnings for 1951, who are filing similar reports for their earnings for 1952, and who will have paid the social security tax for each year. Social security reports on self-employment earnings are made with successions of the social security reports on self-employment earnings are made. employment earnings are made on special forms and are sent to birector of Internal Revenue perfect condition, like new; $1,5.50 Actick 2373-J.

Mr. Murphy says that self-employed persons who have been in work that counts toward social security since 1950 now have insurance protection at least until mid-1955 from that work alone. If they reach 65 and retire before then they will be entitled to monthly old-age benefit payments; in case of death before mid-1955 their families can get monthly survivors insurance payments.
